

Word Squares

Puzzle 0190

In the days of the Raj, some of the senior British officers often first off (for which they blamed the second in the air) when contemplating the government of the different princely third into which the country was divided, but when actually faced with the local bureaucracy, they couldn't help thinking that somebody needed to administer a fourth to the fifth.

		Z
	Z		N
Z		N		S
	N		M
		S		